

AFA Dispensing Group

Our products might be the best, but our customers will always come first. This is why when capacity for our new sprayer - OpUs™ - was not sufficient to meet the market demand, we temporarily stopped taking new customers in order to meet existing customers' expectations. At the same time we committed capital to yet another capacity increase, and by the last quarter of 2010, OpUs™ production will increase to 300,000,000 per year.

Our products might be the best, but they are only as valuable as their ability to increase the consumer's purchase intention. This is why Afa Dispensing Group believes that technology and functionality, not just design, is what makes the difference for the consumer. And this is why we are the only spraying company that developed a new dispensing platform - OnePak™ - which has a proven track record of enhancing our customers' brands.
